

On Saturday February 1st with 1 week to go until polling day...
Join the #CandidateHunt!

It's no secret that climate has been missing from the narrative of the general election. Candidates have been a rare sight in the wild, merely dropping flyers through letter-boxes and neglecting to knock on doors and converse with constituents. In each TV debate, climate as a topic has been absent or pinned on at the tail end of conversations, with the issue framed as an us-versus-them-dilemma. It's time we collectively made sure climate is a part of this election! Take part in the OneFuture #CandidateHunt on Saturday February 1st and put climate on the agenda of #GE2020 candidates and voters alike!

How to?

Sign up via www.onefuture.ie/act. These things are much more fun in a group. If you don't have a group to do this with already we will do our best to connect you with others in your area who also want to get together on Saturday!

What you can do	Complete
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Take a picture with the ask card in front of a candidate's poster <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Bonus point for doing this with each candidate in your constituency Extra points for tagging the candidate on social media!
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Stick a OneFuture window sticker on the door or window of a candidate's local office <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Bonus points for getting the offices of all TDs in your constituency!
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Find 3 local businesses that will put a window sticker in their window <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Bonus points for encouraging the business to do a social media post tagging OneFuture!
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Knock on over 10 doors to speak to the residents about the campaign and give them ask cards <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Talking to our neighbours is the best way to get climate action on everyone's lips and increase general confidence around talking about the issue. Knocking door to door is really powerful and there has only been positive feedback from all door knocking that has happened so far! Candidates haven't been doing this very much so members of the public are extra appreciative when you come knocking.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Get a selfie with a real live general election 2020 candidate!
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Platinum challenge! Get a selfie handing the leader of a political party an ask card with the 9 campaign demands!

There are national hubs where materials can be collected from, please see www.onefuture.ie for details.
